Resolution PDF

Mike,

Attached is a copy of the Resolution unanimously adopted by the Lexington County Council on 11/14/00 supporting the use of the Lexington BFE HEC-2 model in computing the Lexington floodway.

In accordance with the points you raised in the October 18, 2000 meeting, the adopted Resolution reflects community support for a technically correct resolution, consistent with 44CFR60.3(d)(2) and based on the September 26, 2000 map. Acceptance of the Lexington model would thus obviate the need to extend the comment period, to re-open the proceedings, or otherwise to delay the establishment of a final map

Mike, after five maps and six years, I believe we now have an excellent opportunity to bring the community together and to resolve this matter on a basis that is satisfactory to all. Accordingly, on behalf of Columbia Venture, we respectfully request an opportunity to meet with you and your staff, either in Atlanta or in Washington, D C., during the week of November 27 to further this important objective. Please call me at your earliest convenience.

Thanks,

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, Lexington County Council has considered the long range economic implications of the floodway elevations and the models prepared by FEMA configuring the proposed floodway as it affects Lexington County and the economic development opportunities; and

WHEREAS, Lexington County Council has considered the critical impact, both commercially and residentially, of these elevations and floodways on the wastewater treatment facilities serving Lexington County and this region and desires that the remapping process by FEMA be completed

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, with the stipulation that the base flood elevations (BFEs) and the configuration for the floodway will not change in Lexington County from those shown in the September 26, 2000 study, Lexington County Council requests that FEMA's notice of Final Determination reflect a floodway for property in and on the Lexington County side of the Congaree River that is determined using the Lexington BFE HEC 2 model
